

President's Message

Club Members,

Our October meeting is approaching. I hope you all are going outdoors and enjoying the weather while it lasts. It's about to be bundle up time. Chris Stapley wanted everyone to know that he has found a couple seated coins. You're welcome Chris.

September's meeting was a good one. We had guest speaker Robin Devey from Utah Goldbacks. It was very interesting that they could make a gold bill with around a dollars worth of gold. You guys really wanted those Goldbacks! lol

For this month's meeting Mike Morey is going to give a presentation on Trade Tokens. Trade Tokens should be a major focus when metal detecting. They range in value from cents to thousands of dollars. Trade tokens tell about local history. We can learn a lot about ourselves from trade tokens. Tokens are the foundation of our club. This is an important meeting to attend.

Don't forget "Finds of the Month". Bring your finds from the last 30 days. We got some great deals on raffle prizes at the coin show. Woohoo!

I'd like to thank Wade for volunteering to bring this month's drinks and snacks. He will receive those super special Christmas Raffle tickets for his generosity.

My Great Grandfather, Erich Carl Dittman, was proprietor of the "Heidelberg Tavern" from December 1st 1937 – January 28th 1943. It was located on 4904 South State in Murray, Utah. I found some interesting history about my great grandfather and his tavern in the newspaper archives.

due to Officer Reilly's failure to call with a suitable gift in re- reflex inductive oscillatory tube for my radio. Cleveland Plain Dealer. The author of the verses of "Gille lesser known hymns, was Franz Gruber, born in Hochburg in 1795. and with least trouble?" "Wahler, O'D, pass the hat."

He had a nick name "Heinie" and people would call the Tavern "Heinie's Heidelberg".

A neat article related to my great grandfather becoming a U.S. citizen.

Thieves Make Two Visits At Local Tavern; Take $200

LETTER CLEARS BOOK DISPUTE

In the Eagle last week it was stated that the city commission had made no appropriation in the city library fund for books and periodicals. The statement was correct, but does not mean that the library will not be able to buy any books and periodicals in 1940. The county allocates money for this purpose.

Mayor G. R. Berger's letter to the library board which follows, should explain the matter:

January 4, 1940

Honorable Board:

This is to advise you that the budget for 1940 provides $1800 for library purposes as follows:

Librarian	$1,020
Assistant Librarian	60
Other Payroll	400
Lights and Power	100
Fuel	100
Supplies and Expense	120
	$1,800

It is anticipated that levy will be made in August to conform to this appropriation. You will note there has been no appropriation made for books and periodicals. It is the thought of the Board of Commissioners that any purchases of this nature should be taken care of from the library fund allocated direct to your board by the County.

Yours very truly,
G. R. BERGER,
Mayor.

IDLE RUMORS ?

Various rumors were not idle in Murray this week. A number of people insisted that a great expansion program was being contemplated by a more than one million dollar company here.

At this writing, however, no word has been received of any actual building plans. After considerable investigation of the rumors being bruited about town, we are convinced that no plans have definitely been made yet. No property has been transferred in Murray on State street, according to the county recorder's office.

However, the talk is so general among citizens and business men, and the rumors so persistent,

Mr. Heinie Dittman, proprietor of the Heidelberg beer tavern reckoned his losses this week as the result of an early morning raid by skilled burglars Tuesday. The thieves got $200 in cash, a gold watch, $17.10 from a cigarette machine, and Mr. Dittman's prized automatic pistol.

The Tuesday episode followed a previous attempt Monday morning, when the burglars were frightened off by Joe Gillen, city marshal. On the first try, the thieves pried off a section of the roof, broke a window in the store room to enter. A burglar alarm roused officer Gillen at the city hall who tried the front door of the establishment. Believing that those inside had entered by the back way, Mr. Gillen drew his gun and went to the rear. In the meantime, the thieves left hurriedly by the front door and escaped.

Mr. Dittman thought of staying at his place of business the following night, but decided that no further attempts would be made. But having experienced the effects of the burglar alarm, the thieves on their next venture located the alarm wires, putting them out of order. From then on, according to evidence, they proceeded leisurely and methodically to rattle the music box, cigarette machine and other slot devices as well as the cash register.

Before the burglars came a second time, the damage they had caused to the roof of the building had been repaired. On the second night, they tore another hole.

Finger print experts from Salt Lake, after examining pieces of glass from the broken window, declared that the men involved must have been experienced burglars as no trace of their prints could be found.

The efficiency with which they had accomplished their job made others conclude that the systematic robbery of the tavern had been done by a "gang" of well-organized thieves. It was believed that several men had been involved, with those on the look out who were not busily employed.

It was noted that the loot did not include a dish full of sales tax tokens which rested beside the cash register.

The tavern was broken into a couple times. In one case, thieves stole $200 cash, a gold watch, $17.10 from a cigarette machine but left a bowl full of state tax tokens.

C. F. Christensen Purchases Tavern

Mr. C. F. Christensen, well known cafe man from San Diego, Salt Lake City and other centers of metropolitan life, has purchased the Heidelberg in Murray City. The former proprietor, Mr. E. C. Dittman, has been retained as operating manager and is continuing the fine food and cheerful atmosphere of the Heidelberg at it has been known here for a number of years.

The experience of Mr. Christensen as the operator and owner of places of entertainment and refreshment throughout the West makes for an establishment at the Heidelberg that will retain the popularity of this business.

Mr. Christensen will appreciate the patronage of the regular clientele of the Heidelberg, and hopes to make new ones and a lot of them.

Murray City people are friendly people, says Mr. Dittman, and they will find that Mr. Christensen is a friendly man, he states.

Joe at the Utah Farmers' Outlet says he is a very busy man and likes it. More business and more work seem to go together.

Mr. Heinie Dittman reports that the Heidelberg had the largest day of business in their history this last Sunday. Every chair, stool and table holding or supporting a customer—all relishing the food and refreshment.

Gertie is back from a vacation which might account for the Berg's new popularity.

The "happy family" idea at the Heidelberg is going along in high gear and Ditty promises a surprise in a short time.
